

RYAN TRABUCO STATEMENT

June 2, 2025

There is nothing concrete about Kyle's plans as far as I'm aware. The focus of our Party is the District 1 County Supervisor special election.

I would say that if Kyle does decide to run, there would be an election for a new Chair as per the party's Bylaws.

One thing that's been clear to me for the better part of the last year is how many Democratic club leaders, activists, donors, electeds, and Central Committee members would welcome Will coming back as Chair. I know folks approached him after the elections in November to gauge whether he was interested in coming back to lead the party.

Given his record of electoral success when he was Chair, his record of service as a Marine Corps Veteran, and the fact that he's been very publicly exonerated from the bullshit that he went through, I suspect that Will would very easily win re-election as Chair of the party.
